I need to subscribe to a board of Trello to be notified when someone add/remove/update a card. The documentation for the API says nothing about it so I am wondering if anyone know about that? A: You can subscribe to an entire board via the /trellos/boards endpoint: Example: /1/trellos/114251130/boards You can also get more detailed information (permission, members, cards) about a board via the /trellos/boards/detail endpoint: Example: /1/trellos/114251130/boards/7266913/detail (Responses are JSON) In this response, you can see that the board has 34 members and that they can view all cards (and hence see your card). For a list of boards available on your account, /1/trellos/{account_id}/boards: Example: /1/trellos/418085328/boards It will return an array of boards that you can use to filter the list. You said in one of the talks that you "used to listen to Susan [Manson's] ideas and ideas from my Dad and Jerry [Aguirre], and now I have a personal responsibility to step up" when it comes to living a Christian life. What does that mean to you? I think that's a very Buddhist thing. It's a little bit selfish, but it also pushes you to a very mature level. There's no way I can be happy if I'm not hurting someone. What do you think your legacy would be as a Christian? What's your legacy as a Christian? I think there's a time in everyone's life where people have moments where they can say, "This is who I am." For me, I don't think it's so much defined, but I believe I have done some good. Some good, some bad, but that's the same in every single one of us. The only way to answer that question is just to do the best you can. If you're not the best you can be, then you're not living. You're not even breathing. We wanted to thank Holly for taking the time to speak with us. We feel she has done a great job. Holly, you're an excellent role model for many in the industry. I've been in front of some pretty skeptical people in my Christian years, mostly Christians. I've had to learn
