What's New in the AtFinger?

- Menus: - Shortcuts keys: - Key list: - Tray popup menu: - Shotcut all - duration at startup: - Reset shortcut key: - Help - about AtFinger @R.Kuder - Thanks for your comments. I think AtFinger is fantastic. Every time I use it (several times a day), I always come back to it and find a solution I didn't know existed - such as this: "The boot option /bin/sh -c 'if [ -x /usr/bin/nc ] && /usr/bin/nc -z 19 >/dev/null 2>&1; then echo 'sh>nc'; else echo 'nc>sh'; fi' console to add a shortcut key for the Open Terminal on the Nautilus pathbar". "If the shortcut is set to a title without spaces, a space in the title will result in the shortcut appearing twice. To make sure that there is no confusion you can move the shortcut to the desktop and rename the shortcut to a new name". @steve-bell "If the shortcut is set to a title without spaces, a space in the title will result in the shortcut appearing twice. To make sure that there is no confusion you can move the shortcut to the desktop and rename the shortcut to a new name". You're not telling me anything I don't already know. Every shortcut in a title using spaces is an advertisement for my own company. I use them often for exactly the reason you've indicated. I wish you luck with your new version. I have been using atfing for quite a while now - but not daily I must admit. The fact that I don't use the option quite often makes me miss what used to be the 'missing' feature - the ability to select the folder on the Folder Basket, then to select atfinger and have a nice and quick scan of the new folders and their contents. But I like that I can select any folder on my PC in atfing, scan and scan again. I do like the new option that can be moved from the main list view to the 2nd list view, and vice versa. This makes it easier to navigate. I just hope that now that I can use the scan and select options - or a combination of the two I will get even more use out of atfing. Really, I
