Plume Creator

Plume Creator is a simple and intuitive tool for creating short stories, novels, and long novels. The program supports short stories, short novels, long novels and long novels, while its main window can be custom-configured to suit any type of story structure. The program features a simple, intuitive interface, making it easy to create a detailed story without getting bogged down by complications. A sidebar helps to organize your text, making it easier to create a plotline for your story. Key Features: • Create any type of story structure: short story, short novel, long novel, and long novel. • A side panel for your story • Multiple story plots • Character and story lists • Footnotes • Spelling check • Text formatting (bold, italic, quotation) • Create bookmarks for your story, chapters, acts, scenes or characters. • Import/export HTML, TXT, CSV and PDF formats • Compatible with Windows, Mac OS X and Linux Trial version of the application is available for download for free. Spare the Environment, Start with Yourself There are many ways to help the environment, but for me, the easiest is simple to do. Start with yourself, and work on cleaning up your room, wash your clothes, make your bed, clean your dishes, do some small projects around the house, spend more time with your family, turn off the lights, and switch off your computer, your mobile phone, etc... This gives you the power to change the world...and start by changing yourself. Now, no single person has the power to change the world, but together, as a global community, we can and will make a difference, and create a better future for our children and generations to come. ## What's New in the?

Plume Creator is a software utility that aims to help both novices and pro-writers in drafting or creating their own stories. This content community relies on user-generated content from our member contributors. The opinions of our members are not those of site ownership who maintains strict editorial agnosticism and simply provides a collaborative venue for free expression.Q: CSS: Keep link on top of a header image (with content underneath) I have a website where the header contains an image and some text that will be overlaid upon the image. The header is fluid so the image will be resized to fill the container. I want to be able to keep a link on top of the image, even when the header is resized to fill the container. Right now I have this in my CSS: #header { position: relative; } #header img { position: absolute; top: 0; left: 0; } And this works. However, I also want the header text underneath to move down with the header. Here's a jsfiddle of what I have. As you resize the browser window, the header image gets bigger and the header text moves down. However, I want the link to stay on top of the header image (as you can see in the last image). A: position: relative, in #header img will hide the element from view (so it won't be seen), even if it's inside it. position: absolute is going to be below the viewport, as you expected. Use position: fixed instead: A: Check this Fiddle You have to use 'position:fixed' for that. A: The top: 0; was the problem, adding width:100%; to #header img solved it for me. Working example can be seen here: A Hamilton County Board of Elections official charged with voting fraud said he's a political mercenary who turned in fraudulent votes from supporters of President Donald Trump during the 2016 election. Randy Evans, a Republican precinct chair in Madisonville, told The Enquirer he collected roughly 25 fraudulent signatures for the president. The alleged ballots were then turned in to the Hamilton County Board of Elections during the Nov. 8, 2016 election. Evans said he was paid $50 for every 100 signatures he collected, a total of about $1,000. His story coincides with a bombshell report from The Intercept, a national investigative website that claims the FBI has opened a criminal investigation into possible coordination between Russia and the Trump
