Category:Windows-only software Category:Java platform software Category:Financial softwareQ: Unable to get the following interval 1.1 - 5.7 M to display in "2 decimal places" I am unable to display the values, which are greater than 0.5, i.e., from 1.1 - 5.7 M, in "2 decimal places", it is displaying 1.2 M in the case below Documentation can be found here: The Big File runbook is available here: I have tried both following: Changing the setting to "Use this rounding values" with Big file Code Text formatting as per the below screenshot: Note : "Use this Rounding values" is selected under the Rounding section below the Percentages, Decimals and Number formatters - Big File Code Text formatting section. Using the Big file code text formatting as per below screenshot: Note : This image is from the documentation available here: A: Don't use the setting Use this Rounding values. It will round your numbers to 2 decimal places always. Instead, use the setting Rounding numbers into groups with this trigger. Rounding numbers into groups with this trigger, will use the formatting values you provide, but a different method is used to determine which formatting values to use. Basically, instead of rounding to a fixed number of decimals, it rounds to 0 groups of 2 decimals, and all numbers between two groups are rounded to the same group. So, for instance, using your example: Decimal places: 2 Decimal

Any intelligent thought is born of conflict, that tension which makes evolution possible. So understanding a controversy, and coming to terms with it, is ultimately about a sense of reality, and the possibility of bringing some form of harmony to a situation in which conflict and tension have arisen. One thing I have been trying to do in the course of the past 2 years since starting this website is bring some comfort and some understanding to a lot of people who are not at all comfortable with computer technology. That is because people are all different, and some are way more comfortable with their technology than others. In this sense, I do feel that bringing comfort and understanding is something that I can offer. My Dad bought me a pc on Christmas day 2002. I don't even remember what the pc was. It was a pc that I had to go to the computer store to replace a loose connection on the monitor. It was the first pc I had ever bought for myself. Now a new driver had to be installed on the pc. My dad went and did the installation for me. This pc had windows xp on it. I had to change my desktop wallpaper to something I had found online. This wallpaper was a blue background with a dark blue pattern, I'm not even sure what the exact color of the background was. From then on, my family and I went to the store at least once a year to get a new motherboard, ram, hard drive and to reset the pc's login password. This was my first experience with technology and with pc's. As technology evolved and we started to browse the internet, we started learning more about computers and more about what you can do with a pc. We realized how powerful a pc could be if you could do some form of customization with
