collegiate baseball and the junior college level as a catcher. He played one season at Palomar Community College, playing 37 games for the San Diego State Aztecs where he caught for three pitchers. He played a single season at Sierra College before signing with the San Diego Padres as a free agent on June 9, 2005. Ramirez spent four years in the Padres minor league system; he played for the Eugene Emeralds from 2005 to 2006, the Lake Elsinore Storm from 2006 to 2007, and the Fort Wayne Wizards in 2008. He was most notable for his power hitting in 2006, when he hit 21 home runs for the Storm. Despite playing in the minor leagues, Ramirez was ranked the 16th best catching prospect for the Padres by Baseball America in 2006. On December 15, 2008, Ramirez was selected in the 2009 Rule 5 draft. He was chosen by the Washington Nationals and assigned to the Harrisburg Senators on December 18. On February 11, 2009, Ramirez was outrighted by the Nationals to Harrisburg. He
