Flookey Crack Mac is an intelligent personal music manager for your PC. Random shuffle is precisely that - random. Flookey Full Crack is the exact opposite of random. It has purpose. Not only does it provide recommendations based on advanced objective and subjective criteria, but it is also constantly learning about your personal music preferences. When you just let Flookey run (effectively using it as an auto DJ), simply listening to a song or skipping past it will help Flookey learn about you, permitting it to continuously and automatically improve the suggestions it generates. You can also take a more active role in guiding Flookey by highlighting a song (or songs) and pressing the Boost button. Flookey provides suggestions based on multiple layers of music analysis and learns which factors are most important to you. As such, it not only combines and improves upon these previous recommendation processes, but it adds an entirely new acoustics layer and personalizes its functionality to you. Flookey's intelligence is based on its ability to learn how your musical mind works. In fact, it works similar to the human mind. During human learning, when a neurological link in your mind is activated, this link gets stronger. When a link goes unused, it gets weaker. Thus, over time, Flookey molds to your musical mind just like a pair of slippers molds to your foot. Currently, Flookey works with MP3, WAV (44100 Hz), and unprotected WMA, M4A/AAC files. Here are some key features of "Flookey": □ helps you to create meaningful playlists - This solves the "1000 songs problem": For music collections that exceed approximately 1000 songs it's still easy to find a certain song or album, but it starts to get tricky to create a meaningful playlist with reasonable play durations. □ provides efficient navigation through your personal song library □ adapts to your personal listening preferences and suggests songs from your private library □ creates dynamic and adjustable playlists from your private collection □ detects similarities between your songs based on audio analysis, meta data, and your listening preferences Flookey - Overview

Bookey is a real-time personal song runner, DJ and autotuner. Feel like you are in your own personal party. Bookey is a program that allows you to run your personal musical library like you would be doing in your own personal audio party. Bookey randomly assigns playlists from your music library to your speakers. The playlist length stays static, however, and you can stay on the same playlist for hours. Not only will it shuffle your playlist, it will provide recommendations throughout the playlists. It makes a simple, yet powerful combination. You can also add songs to the playlists manually and it will do its best to match the playlist to your play durations. If the playlist doesn't match the actual durations, Bookey will move songs to the next playlist if they do not fit. Bookey can also be used as a full PC DJ. All DJ functions, such as cueing, fading, adding the effect and much more, can be controlled by your mouse. This means that with Bookey you are able to eliminate the tedium that comes with using CD players and turntables. You are free to add your favourite special effects to your mix. This includes all effects that are available in the WinAmp effects. Bookey provides great user-friendliness and simplicity. Bookey is a flexible yet user-friendly and powerful tool for helping you to get more from your personal music library. What Bookey is NOT: □ it's not a CD / CD-ROM player. You cannot hit the play button, skip tracks, or pause your music. □ This is not a music player. □ This is not a computer-program-player. □ This is not an application that randomly shuffles and loads playlists and DJ's your music library. □ This is NOT like iTunes. □ This is NOT like Winamp. □ It's NOT a powerful autotuner. □ It's NOT a media player. □ This is NOT a burn tool.
