It is a double reed instrument. The term baglama may refer either to the instrument itself or to the method of playing it. The baglama also refers to the North Eastern Anatolian (TR) folk music style, associated with the baglama. It is called "baglama" in Turkish, "baglaya" in Armenian, and "schigaia" in Greek, while in Albanian and Arabic it is known as "klonkin" and, in Bulgarian, as "vyalovata". The term "baglama" is often used to refer to the style of music created for the instrument. A double reedless instrument, the baglama was traditionally made from goat-horn or sometimes wood, and though the instrument is still played in Turkey, it is now more often made from plastic or metal and is used in folk dance ensembles and symphony orchestras throughout the world. These early baglama instruments were made from goat-horn. The baglama as a sequenced list of notes and/or control changes.Q: How to add a class to a specific First I will explain what I want. I have a list of members in a table, and I have a div containing a picture, link and title. When I hover over the members I want to change the picture of the div, and change the text to a blue class. Then, when I hover over other members I want the title and picture to go back to normal. It should be something like this, but since I am quite new to javascript I don't know how to go about it.
