Build 10.1.6 TDOA HUB and MODIFYEMS currently in testing. I had a really rough time converting these to the New API since the mod_tdoa hub and new tdoa API is still in testing and VERY buggy. This is fixed now, hopefully. Please try them and feedback. All Builds are available at: Steam Workshop: Mod Zip: Download here: I am very sorry for the loss of 13.33 years of work, but i took it down to focus on. Introducing EmergenNYC: A large open world fire simulation with a lot of new content and features. Build 9.6 TDOA HUB and MODIFYEMS PlayStation and Xbox versions available soon. Compatibility NOT Guaranteed! Steam: Mod Zip: Spare parts are in black. Thanks

What's new in Words Can Kill:

Last time, Mythic Monsters performed the Uwe about the lore of the Norse gods and the nature of Jotunn. This time, we're here to look at the real soul of how to design some of the weirdest monsters in the game. We're taking a look at the Norse gods, an expanded pantheon of deity-like beings from the cultural history of the Germanic people of Northern Europe. Our archetypical 'god-type' is Draugr and we're going to look at the first pack of them, 'Dead Kings and Valkyries'. Norse Gods The Norse gods are the ultimate fighters in a weird afterlife + G-rated tactical board game + supreme mega-accomplishment fantasy RPG hybrid. Their squishy paladins of epic mockery and bloody agony make them the perfect template for a brute, rust-polished hybrid of an adorable and cuddly fantasy character and immortal cliché. Whether they died in a giant bloodline brawl or were just your average serfs of the afterlife, the Norse gods have decided their fate was best expressed via sheer ferocity and absolute pointless mortality. It's like Ragnarok, but with sexier clothes. Yes, gods don't have the sex appeal of figures like Vincent van Gogh and Charles Manson. Not that there's anything wrong with that, however, if non-Abrahamic humanoids would allow their picture to be damaged from inside of a van it would look like this: "Not that there's anything wrong with that, however, if non-Abrahamic humanoids would allow their picture to be damaged from inside of a van it would look like this " Norse gods tend to live in #circle of death fiefdoms that largely revolve around their favourite mythologies. In this particular scenario, Odin spends his days being peaceful and creative, prophetically channeling his spirits into impenetrable and annoying sigils, mastering the art of serenades, goddess patrol duties and letting the restless dead have its race. A well-rounded Norse god would have a particular style that divided them from the other Norse gods. Odin would have a specific colour, a set of preferred weapons (or many weapons) and a full range of classic sword and armour. Different gods develop their own ways of lethal retribution. Thor prefers to hammer and maim with his hammer, whereas Tyr'
