EXCLUSIVE GAME ACCESS BLOG: How Much Have You Spent on Dark Souls?

Destructoid.com has been keeping tabs on Dark Souls' overall leaderboards, and they've discovered that a small but passionate section of the player base is logged in to their site almost every hour of every day in an effort to build the perfect stat sheet. Of course there's nothing supernatural about this. We all want to dominate a game. But gamers curious to learn what level their friends are at, what level their potential rivals are at, or even just take it all in for the sake of study can visit the Dark SoulsGame.com stats board for your perusal.

The Bad:

- If you started playing with some friends, not with the same friends, you get shuffled into pretty much the exact same level
- Local multiplayer support is good in theory, it's just that a lot of people don't actually play the game with each other, so it's hard to get more than 15 or so people on a custom game
- When it's a custom game, you can only have one person host, so if two or more of you have a computer you plug it into at the same time, you're stuck with your hosts settings for the duration of the game
- They broke the party system

The Secret Service arrested an unidentified man Wednesday who slipped past a checkpoint along the U.S. Capitol's West Lawn. The man was arrested after Secret Service agents notified them that a man had suspicious movements and was trying to get into a restricted area, Capitol Police spokeswoman Milana Panin told The Hill. The man approached a checkpoint alongside the West Lawn, when he bumped into a female agent and abruptly turned to leave, according to a tweet from Democratic Rep. Debbie Wasserman Schultz (Fla.), who said she saw the incident live. ADVERTISEMENT "I was with my staff and saw it with my own eyes," she tweeted. "Never seen anything like it in my life, and I work around Capitol Hill security." All Secret Service agents have been barraged with questions in recent weeks over the shutdown standoff, and Panin declined to answer questions about how checkpoint was set up, including how the man made it past the electronic checkpoint. She noted to The Hill that the man was not on the list of individuals pre-cleared to enter the area, calling it "absolutely wrong." "This is literally a secure area," Panin said. "It would be unfortunate for anybody to be here unless they were called in prior." The Secret Service could not be reached for a comment Wednesday on how Wednesday's checkpoint was set up. In recent weeks, as part of the government shutdown, special checkpoints were set up around the Capitol to stop pedestrians and others who were not previously cleared.
