Expedition is a first-person shooter simulation in which players can engage in online matches in eight unique environments. In these environments a wide variety of weapons are available, such as Guns, Bows, Spear-guns and even hand-to-hand combat. You must use your arsenal of weapons and tactics to survive! In addition to weapons, you can also set traps, build and destroy walls and barricades and kill the various hordes of rock monsters (and humans) that come to get you! More about GTA San Andreas GTA San Andreas is a sandbox-style crime simulator developed by Rockstar North. Set in the fictional city of San Andreas, the story revolves around Carl Johnson, a former street gangster who attempts to live a normal life. The main plot of the game focuses on Carl's criminal activities and romantic relationships. The game, which was first announced on March 2, 2002, originally premiered on the PlayStation 2. The physical version of the game was released on the same day as the PlayStation 2. A port for the Xbox version, named GTA San Andreas: The Complete Edition, was released on October 16, 2004, alongside Grand Theft Auto: San Andreas. A total of four expansion packs were released for the PlayStation 2 version of the game. These expansion packs consisted of Missions, Improvements and Counterfeits, Ballistics, and the Arena. In 2008, a sequel to the game was released for the PlayStation Portable. There are three primary characters in the game; Carl Johnson, Franklin Clinton and Trevor Philips. Other characters include three playable female characters, various civilians, and all the characters from Grand Theft Auto III. Sales Media releases Theme music The theme music of the game, "GTA San Andreas", was composed by Garry Schyman. It was released on October 11, 2004. Reception GTA San Andreas received generally positive reviews. GameRank

The world is beautiful, but full of danger. Or...was. It's a period of chaos and unrest in a once peaceful world. It's up to you to help rebuild the community by collecting resources, tools and buildings to get your community moving again. Pathfinder is a tabletop roleplaying game (RPG) designed for creative people who enjoy making their own adventures, stories, and characters. This is an entertaining and fast-paced game for 1-5 players, but does not require a background in RPG's to play. The goal of Pathfinder is to create a game that can adapt to any group and environment, but also one that fits its own original campaign setting. The Pathfinder setting for 2nd edition is rich, and has a lot to offer for experienced players. A simple system is used, with simple rules, but perfect for anyone who wants to try their hand at creating their own game or a new campaign. Only the rules of the first chapter will be presented at this conference. This will allow us to discuss the basics of character creation, introducing a simple combat mechanic, and also covering how resources are handled in Pathfinder. So join me on Friday the 22nd of February for this exciting 5 hours of teaching and roleplaying, I would love to see you there. Ondrej Benda We invite you to party with us in our fantasy life! with Horror Movie Reviews Main menu Post navigation Science Fiction Horror and Philosophy Series 1 UPDATE (5/22/2012): The first entry in the series is for eerily explosive thank you to everyone for the encouraging comments. I want to keep these articles to be as informative for new viewers, or any new fans of horror movies that seem familiar to the horror genre but I went into specifics to facilitate a deeper dive where needed. Special thanks to Dean Mundorf who had the same idea a few years ago and reached out to me. Night Festival is a 1995 slasher horror film written by Rick Deutrom and directed by John Grissmer. In it a teenage girl named Jen explores the abandoned castle while some student lovers try to escape the evil here. This is a great movie that has been on the American television for many years but missing from the list of horror classics. Unfortunately I did not have much time to produce the articles as I was currently engaged so I hope everyone will enjoy them. Starring: Danielle Harris, John Karna, Tracey Walter, Abby Sweeten, Meredith Baxter, and Bradley Nickerson It Makes It's Debut: Night Festival is a lesser known 1995 slasher horror film directed by John Grissmer that I had never heard of until a couple months ago. I only learned of it after watching the recent horror thriller V/H/S. It stuck in my mind as one of the craziest American horror films because of its themes, unconventional dialog, and its visual whimsy. Jen is a student at a college that is called Nightfest, which is an annual festival that brings in thousands of fans to this campus. They all get together and enjoy the insane events which often include murder, excitement, panic, and people getting gutted. The last thing you would expect is for a group of kids to come here and have this happen. A lot of controversy surrounded the plagiarism of Night Festival. Among the well-known critics, some look at visual effects and writing to be very similar to Scream. Night Festival's characters also sound like a reworking of the characters spoken in Scream. Night Festival's original release took a different, and much heavier approach to the familiar story of a group of college students experiencing a slasher film under false pretenses. Needless to say it didn't make the box office. And some of the "content" in the film is

Welcome to the Ultimate Country Life! Our struggling family have sold the mansion and are now renting a shabby one room cabin in the backwoods. The peaceful countryside is fast disappearing along with the rest of the world and we live in what feels like a completely isolated location. Although we're glad to have the house and yard to ourselves we have become a little tired of the countryside. The path of an adventurer is a well-traveled road and long hours are spent in front of the TV. We started to think about what we'd like to do in the future. But since our house is a little rundown, we decided to try to get a fresh start somewhere else. We'll still have to spend most of the day commuting to work and we can't just take off and leave our car at the front porch. So, we just have to make the best of it. It's all going to be fine, this is nothing! Meet our neighbors and guide them to their new homes. 1 player adventure. This is Tiles 2. I made this pack to fill some lacks in existing fangames and to provide a unique title for those who loves the retro pixel art and the animation. I hope you'll enjoy this pack! :) Features: - Features and Extras We have a cool pack of tiles we include in the pack. Starting with the quite obvious the background and having a lot of extra features. You can really choose how you want your project to be made with this pack. Extra Features: Canvas is dragged and dropped to create your own original background! The creator can select between a few predefined patterns to start from, or create their own from scratch. Actions are as simple as clicking the tile or right clicking on it to have them show up as built-in options. We have a tutorial for those who like to see how the tiles work and the different actions. The pack includes tiles sets, custom colors and solid color sheets. The tileset can be shrunk or expanded (You can drag the side to increase or decrease the
