The sub-chronic toxicity of thiram to male rats after chronic (29 days) and sub-chronic (28 days) exposure was investigated. There were no apparent signs of toxicity or weight loss in the treated groups. Thiram given at 1 or 10 mg/kg bw to rats via inhalation caused a lowering of the absolute and relative liver weight in both treated groups. Thiram treatment induced an elevation of the glucose level in the treated groups. However, no changes in any biochemical parameters were seen in the urine or serum. No evidence of systemic toxicity was found following a sub-chronic toxicity study of thiram.L d0c515b9f4
