Elden Ring Features Key:

The eponymous Elden Ring wielded by legend, Tarnished,

The Elden Ring, also known as the Guardian Ring, is a legendary artifact that is believed to have been born due to ages of civil war between the dwarves of the Shadowlands and the elves of Grithnar Forest, as well as the conflict between the dwarves and the Elden. As a result of the ferocious clashes that accompanied the development of the Ring, the powerful gems and energies within the Ring have eventually been degraded and the powerful magic that once permeated it has since disappeared.

The only one who knows the true history behind the Elden Ring is one who weaves its varied legend with her scepter. This legend was lost with the passing of the winds of time, as were the uses for the Elden Ring, and was then only written down by hand. However, people knew it as the Elden Ring, and people called this person Tarnished. She collected the various scattered records of this hidden history together, hiding them inside the Zanthia Kingdom. Unfortunately, it is said that if Tarnished dies or is removed from the throne, the legends of the Elden Ring that have passed down will once again be lost forever.

In order to wield the power to which the Elden Ring gives access, Tarnished decided to place the ring on a girl, naming her Aartho, from the city of the dwarves of the forest.

What's new in Elden Ring:

Unknowable Demon Eyes Horde of Giants Just like the other creatures, it hovers around, waiting for an opportunity to attack. But, the giant has a visual rarity. Its eyes are different from others. While other creatures have similarities from the original species, the giant's eyes are different and strange. Not a single one, but four giant birds. Left, right, above, and below. From different angles, it's a completely different creature. Sword Mastery? After completing the new strategy quest The Cult of War, you can choose the top guild, The Familiars of War, and fight one of the two Guilds that are affiliated with the second party. Wanting to get his hands on the swords and become "the best", the top level swordmaster starts to strongly argue with the other high level swordmaster. The fight was getting more and more heated. The high level swordmaster loudly shouted, "The Master Sword II!" You can only use the sword and have a chance to receive additional skills. When you enter the new strategy quest "The Cult of War" from the Guild Practice mode, after using the Quest-Exchange, you'll receive a quest to fight one of the two guilds that belongs to the second party. "Swordmaster 1: 'Before you, I say! The Sword II is not more powerful than my Sword Master! Don't get your hopes up! The Sword Master II!'" "Swordmaster 2: 'Stop talking crap! Let's fight! I'll win! I have one already! I beat you with my Sword Master once!'" Both the swordmasters were shouting at each other. Their voices were almost deafening. "Swordmaster 1:

'Even if I say it's not true, it's not a lie!'" "Swordmaster 2: 'How can it be a lie? It's true, we just feel it!" "Swordmaster 1: 'Are you really serious?
Your Sword II is unstable. You say that an Axe is strong in your hands? Come out and fight me! Let's not just listen to all these lies!
