The toxicity of GM-CSF and IL-2 when used in combination has been shown to be related to the dose and duration of therapy. Based on this experience, a phase I study was performed to assess the feasibility and toxicity of a low-dose GM-CSF/IL-2 schedule (3.5 mcg/m2/day x 10 and 30 mcg/m2 x 10 consecutive days) in patients with disseminated malignant melanoma. The results were encouraging in that tolerable side effects were observed without significant cytokine-related toxicity. The rapid recovery from thrombocytopenia, although temporary, enabled treatment to continue. Patients were also treated with recombinant interferon in an attempt to induce a state of immunologic tolerance. No evidence of immunologic enhancement was observed. The development of low-dose GM-CSF/IL-2 schedules is an important therapeutic step in the treatment of malignant melanoma. Selenium IDE throwing "Unable to locate element: {"method":"className","selector":"input[type=password]}". I tried to create a custom action via selenium IDE. The code I've written is as follows: storeEval str=document.getElementById('loginForm:username').value str javascript:{input[type="password"]} input submit However, I was unable to identify the password element. A: Not sure if you can do it with pure javascript, but it could be achieved by setting the value of a hidden input field to the value of the target field, and then submitting the form. Selenium IDE is 6d1f23a050
