"As an industry, we demand a better standard for safety," said Efren Pantaleon, president of FTTP, which boasts thousands of members of the general public who want to become pilots. ADVERTISEMENT "In particular, for private pilots, we view training as a form of protection, providing safety for their passengers," he told the Inquirer. The DOT recently ordered all pilot training to end in April, including private jet instruction by FTTP, which conducts training in a new 80,000-square-meter complex in Valenzuela that opened in 2013. FTTP officials insist that private jet training can only be given by certified flight instructors because safety requirements include an array of checks like a prescribed weight limit, a certain safety margin, and adherence to standards for every aspect of the aircraft. It costs as much as P2.1 million annually to secure a private jet, which can seat up to eight passengers, according to FTTP. "It is absurd when we are the ones who are suffering," FTTP official Cyrano Lim said. "We have been pressured by DOT. We've been monitoring the record of those who have trained before us. We are the one who are asked to stop." However, the DOT's decision "makes no sense," Lim said. "It's actually a problem for us." ADVERTISEMENT "We don't want to make a hostile environment. We want to build good ties with DOT. We don't want to give DOT excuses for bad conduct," he said. FTTP has allegedly already lost some 40 clients due to the DOT decision, according to Lim.

Now project1.com is hosted on server1.com and project2.com is hosted on server2.com and server2 is connected to a MySQL server. My question is that - If for example, project1.com fails, should both the project2.com and the database server be taken offline or only the project1.com server be taken offline? A: The more important question is if both the project2.com and the database server are dependent on the project1.com server and you are not already set up to be able to make them redundant. If so, then you will need to spend some time thinking about either removing project1.com, making it redundant by using at least one of the other two servers, or making it a weaker component of the whole by having it check a copy of the project2.com website before deciding what to do and then making the required changes to the project2.com site. If you are using a single shared server, running multiple sites on it, if one goes down then they all go down. If you are running your sites on separate servers, if one of them goes down then nothing happens to the other sites. If you are running multiple sites, on a separate machine for each site, a failure of a component in any of the other sites may cause the failure of other sites as well. Generally, digital printing is one of a number of different printing technologies. In digital printing the printing of an image is performed by causing a marking material (e.g., ink or pigment) to be ejected from the nozzles of a printhead onto a print medium, such as paper. As an example, printers may use cartridges or barrels in which a marking material, or a series of marking materials of different colors, is supplied to the printhead. Examples of such cartridges include ink cartridges and pens. Commonly, the marking materials may be supplied to the printhead in the form of a liquid. An example of 6d1f23a050
